IN RE: ETHICON, INC.,
PELVIC REPAIR SYSTEM
PRODUCTS LIABILITY LITIGATION

MDL No. 2327

THIS DOCUMENT RELATES TO:

Strotz, et al. v. Ethicon, Inc., et al.

Civil Action No. 2:15-cv-06499

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER
(Defendants' Motion for Sanctions)

Pending before the court is Ethicon, Inc. and Johnson & Johnson's (collectively "Ethicon") Motion for Sanctions [ECF No. 7]. The plaintiffs have responded to the motion [ECF No. 8] and Ethicon has replied [ECF No. 9], making it ripe for decision. For the reasons stated below, Ethicon's Motion for Sanctions [ECF No. 7] is GRANTED in part and DENIED in part.

I. Background

This case resides in one of seven MDLs assigned to me by the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation concerning the use of transvaginal surgical mesh to treat pelvic organ prolapse and stress urinary incontinence. In the seven MDLs, there are over 70,000 cases currently pending, approximately 30,000 of which are in the Ethicon, Inc. MDL, MDL 2327. Managing multidistrict litigation requires the court to streamline certain litigation procedures in order to improve efficiency for the parties and the court. Some of these management techniques simplify the parties' discovery responsibilities. Pretrial Order ("PTO") # 17, for example, ensures that Ethicon receives the plaintiff-specific information necessary to defend the cases against it. Under PTO # 17, each plaintiff in this MDL must submit a Plaintiff Profile Form (“PPF”) to act as interrogatory answers under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 33 and responses to requests for production under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 34. (See PTO # 17, In re: Ethicon, Inc., Pelvic Repair System Prods. Liab. Litig., No. 2:12-md-2327, entered Oct. 4, 2012, available at <http://www.wvsc.uscourts.gov/MDL/ethicon/orders.html>). Each plaintiff must submit a PPF within 60 days of filing a Short Form Complaint. (Id. ¶ 1b). Failure to do so subjects the plaintiff “to sanctions, to be determined by the court, upon motion of the defendants.” (Id. ¶ 1i). The parties jointly drafted the requirements for PTO # 17, and I entered it as applicable to every one of the thousands of cases in this MDL.

Here, the plaintiffs filed their complaint on May 20, 2015, and their PPF was due to Ethicon by July 20, 2015. The plaintiffs did not submit a PPF during this time period. Indeed, the plaintiffs did not submit a PPF until Ethicon filed the instant motion, making the PPF more than 143 days late. Ethicon asks the court to dismiss the plaintiffs’ case or, alternatively, sanction the plaintiffs a reasonable monetary penalty. The plaintiffs, while admitting that the PPF was untimely, insists that because the discovery deficiency has been cured and there was no bad faith, sanctions are not appropriate.

II. Legal Standard

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 37(b)(2) provides that a court may issue “just orders” when a party fails to provide or permit discovery. Fed. R. Civ. P. 37(b)(2)(A).

In the MDL world, this authority has particular significance. An MDL judge bears the “enormous” task of “mov[ing] thousands of cases toward resolution on the merits while at the same time respecting their individuality,” and to carry out this task in a smooth and efficient manner, the judge must establish and, more importantly, enforce rules for discovery. In re Phenylpropanolamine Prods. Liab. Litig., 460 F.3d 1217, 1231 (9th Cir. 2006). Rule 37(b)(2) supplies the tool for this enforcement, allowing a judge to impose sanctions when a party fails to comply with the court’s discovery orders. See id. at 1232 (“[A] willingness to resort to sanctions, sua sponte if necessary, may ensure compliance with the [discovery] management program.” (internal citation omitted)); see also Freeman v. Wyeth, 764 F.3d 806, 810 (8th Cir. 2014) (“The MDL judge must be given ‘greater discretion’ to create and enforce deadlines in order to administrate the litigation effectively.”).¹

III. Discussion

The circumstances of this case lead me to impose the sanction provided in Rule 37(b)(2)(C), which requires the disobeying party to pay “the reasonable expenses, including attorney’s fees, caused by the [discovery] failure, unless the failure was substantially justified or other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 37(b)(2)(C). The plaintiffs have not provided substantial justification for their failure to timely submit to discovery. Furthermore, there are no circumstances that make this sanction unjust. Although the discovery violation has since been cured, it nevertheless resulted in litigation expenses for Ethicon. Applying Rule 37(b)(2)(C) ensures that the disobeying party, rather than the innocent party, bears those costs. Accordingly, Ethicon's Motion to Dismiss is DENIED in part in regard to dismissing the plaintiffs' claim and GRANTED in part to the extent that it seeks the payment of reasonable expenses.

Considering the economic and administrative realities of multidistrict litigation, where the cost of preparing and serving even the most elementary of motions can quickly and easily add up, I find that a minimal representative valuation of Ethicon's expenses is $1000. This number accounts for the time and money Ethicon spent identifying Ms. Mayfield as one of the non-compliant plaintiffs; assessing the effect of her discovery violations; drafting a motion for sanctions; serving the motion; and replying to the plaintiff's brief in opposition. All knowledgeable MDL counsel would consider these efforts, which could have been avoided had the plaintiff followed the court's order, to be worth $1000 at the least.

IV. Conclusion

It is therefore ORDERED that the plaintiffs have 30 business days from the entry of this Order to pay Ethicon $1000 as minimal partial compensation for the reasonable expenses caused by the plaintiff's failure to comply with discovery.² In the event that the plaintiffs do not provide adequate or timely payment, the court will consider ordering a show-cause hearing in Charleston, West Virginia, upon motion by the defendants. It is further ORDERED that Ethicon's Motion for Sanctions [ECF No. 7] is GRANTED in part and DENIED in part. Finally, it is ORDERED that plaintiffs' counsel send a copy of this Order to the plaintiffs via certified mail, return receipt requested, and file a copy of the receipt.

The court DIRECTS the Clerk to send a copy of this Order to counsel of record and any unrepresented party.
